OUR PAPER.

We send forth our paper this week—the beginning of the New Year—not exactly in a new dress, but enlarged and we think improved. We know that our readers will congratulate us on the appearance of the REPUBLICAN; but especially on the taste displayed in our new head.

It is our intention, if properly sustained by the people, to make the REPUBLICAN one of the prettiest, the strongest, the spiciest and best county paper in the State. We intend to expose in the future as in the past, the wickedness and corruption, as well as the treasonable prochvities of the sham Democratic party. We shall labor in season and out of season to convince the laboring men of the country, that their interests, their future happiness and prosperity, depend upon their faithful adherence to the great Republican party—to Republican men and Republican measures. If our farmers, mechanics and working men are desirous of having our furnaces, forges, rolling mills, our woolen factories and manufactories of all kinds closed up, and the old Democratic English free-trade system again inaugurated, they will vote for and with the Democratic party. If they wish to see the men and traitors who attempted to destroy the nations life, restored to power, and the rebel debt paid and millions of money expended in the payment of damages to leading rebels for losses sustained in the late rebellion, they will of coure vote the Democratic ticket.

But if they want to see the Government perpetuated, and economically administered, they will vote to sustain the party in power which saved the Government from being destroyed by rebels, they will act and co-operate with the party which is pledged to the payment of the National debt, the faithful iquidation of all pensions, and bounties due to Union soldiers.

These questions and all others relating to the National welfare, and the consequent happiness of our people, will be fully, fairly and faithfully discussed during the year. We shall give our readers a weekly synopsis of both home and foreign news while we will labor incessantly to make the literary and miscellaneous departments of our paper interesting, attractive and instructive.

To this end we will need money and therefore most respectfully but earnestly request our subscribers to adopt the advance pay system and send us our money without delay. Our rates for subscription hereafter will be $2,00 per annum if paid in advance, $2,50 if not paid until the expiration of six months, and $3,00 if not paid until the close of the year. Again we urge upon our readers the advance pay system, and hope they will adopt it. We invite every Republican and honest Democrat in the county to subscribe and pay for the REPUBLICAN. Let us have your hearty co-operation, and we pledge that the benefits shall be mutual.

WE would direct the attention of the reader to our new terms to be found at the head of column on the 6th page. We can assure our readers that they will be religiously adhered to without any exceptions. If the subscriber neglects to pay for 6 months he will be charged $2,50, and if not paid until the expiration of the year $3,00 will be charged. We give this notice so that those delaying payment do so knowing what they will have to pay.

THE German and Frech war is dragging its length slowly along. Both French and German success, on a small scale, are alternately reported. The winter weather prevents much activity in the field. The bombardment of some of the forts around Paris have commenced, and one is reported captured by the Prussians. The Prussians rely on time more than they do on gunpowder for the capture of Paris.

THE Legislature met at Harrisburg yesterday. Up to going to press we had no information how the two Houses were organized, but presume the Democrats in the Senate will elect coffee-pot Wallace, Speaker, and that the Republicans in the House will elect some good Republican as presiding officer.

CENTRE COUNTY TEACHERS INSTITUTE.

The 24th annual session of the Centre County Teachers Institute assembled in Reynolds' Hall, Bellefonte, Pa., Dec. 26, 1870, at 2 o'clock, p. m., and was called to order by Prof. Magee, County Superintendent; Prof. R. H. Kline, of Gettysburg, Pa., opened the session with prayer; Mr. W. A. Tobias, was chosen permanent Secretary and Messrs. D. W. Leathers and H. E. Myers, Assistant Secretaries. The Superintendent presided.

The Superintendent in a neat and very appropriate speech explained to those present the great advantages to be derived to each member, and to those young minds who are now and would be hereafter under their direction, by learning from each other the different modes of instruction that would be explained at this session. He knew that the teachers of Centre county, in intelligence, morality and virtue, would compare favorably with the teachers of any other county in the commonwealth. He believed that the teachers of this county knew how to conduct an Institute of this kind as well as any other of the different professions, and he fully believed that they could make this session as great a success without the aid of ministers, lawyers or doctors as with it. This he said without any disrespect for any of the professions named.

The roll of teachers was then called and 86 teachers out of 292 answered to their names.

The hours of opening and closing the sessions were fixed viz: Morning session open at 9 o'clock. a. m. and close at 12, m. Afternoon session, open at 1:30 o'clock and close at 4:30, p. m. Evening session to commence at 7:30 and close at 9 o'clock, p. m.

It was resolved by the Institute that no member would be permitted to leave during the session without permission from the President.

A resolution was also passed that no person should speak more than five minute s at one time upon any subject under discussion.

The session then adjourned to meet at 7:30, p. m.

EVENING SESSION.

The evening session was opened with prayer by Rev. J. S. Starh, of Lancaster, Pa. The house was well filled evidencing considerable interest in the cause of education. The evening sessions being entirely devoted to lectures, Mr. R. H. Kline, of Gettysburg, Pa., was introduced and delivered a lecture on the "Education of the Mind." He spoke about three-fourths of an hour and advanced some theories that were new to many present. He contended that the mind was in opposition to the spirit or senses. He held that our senses were not trust-worthy. He denounced the idea that mind could be resolved into spirit as the grossest of skepticism &c. He asserted that there was an elastic electic fluid, the current of which shot out from the eye, runs from one body to another, from world to world, and from system to system, permeating all things and thereby this either current of electic fluid connected all things.

Mr. A. D. Rowe, County Superintendant of Clinton county, was introduced and delivered a very interesting lecture on the claims of Natural Science, after which the Institute adjourned to meet at 9 o'clock the next morning.

2D DAYS PROCEEDINGS.

The teachers were prompt in their attendance, and at 9 o'clock, the Superintendant called the Institute to order. The roll being called 110 teachers answered to their names. The Institute was opened by reading of the Scriptures by the President in unison with the members. The minutes of yesterdays proceedings were read and approved. The President then introduced Prof. Bergner of Agricultural College who proceeded to give a dessertation on "Object Lessons," or primary instruction. His lecture throughout, was highly instructive, and we would like to give his remarks in full but our space forbids. He however, considered primary instruction the most important part of education.

Prof. Shumaker, of Chambersburg then addressed the members on English Grammer. He appeared to be at home on that subject and not only instructed but enchained the entire attention of the vast audience.

Prof. N. W. Hull then discoursed on reading. Prof. Hughs, of the Bellefonte Academy, gave a dessertation on mathamatics. Penmanship was then explained by Prof. Hull. The following questions were discussed with considerable interest and ability and eliciting many new ideas.

1st. How would you arrange the seats of a school room, occupied both for study and recitation?

2d. To what extent is the teacher responsible for the protection of the school property?

3d. To what extent should a teacher regulate the out door exercise of his pupils?

4th. How may tardiness be prevented?

5th. What measures should be adopted to secure regularity in attendance. Adjourned.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

Prof. Shumaker opened the Institute with prayer, music by the Institute. Prof. Hull continued his subject of Penmanship, after which he made a few remarks on elocution. He said the first days lesson is to learn the definition of elocution, or fix part of the book in the mind. The second days lesson is to learn and apply pronunciation. This division embrace articulation and accent. The former treats of elementary sounds.

Prof. Starh explained mental science by diagrams with appropriate remarks.

The subject of Geography was taken up by F. W. A. Shultz who prefered the topical method and illustrated it by outlines on the black board. He said that teaching geography should commence with the school grounds and physical features of the neighborhood. Thus meadows might represent far-off plains, adjoining hills, distant mountains, and brooks with which children are familliar with distant rivers &c.

WEDNESDAYS PROCEEDINGS.

Institute opened with prayer. The subject of elocution continued by Prof. Hull who handled his subject with considerable ability. Prof. Starh continued his subject of mental science. Dr. Vanvalzah lectured on Anatomy, Physiology and Hygenia. He said that human anatomy is the science that treats of the structure and relation of the different organs of the human body. Physology and Hygenia treats of the functions of these organs in health and Pathology in disase. He handled his subject with skil. The following questions were proposed and answered and remarked on with considerable interest.

How would you regulate the time for study and recitations? Answered by G. W. Knowl.

How should the daily Scripture lesson be conducted? Answered by Jacob Snyder.

What attention should be given to Phisology and Hygenia in our schools? Answered by Dr, Van Valzah.

Why are tasteful evergreens on the walls desirable? Answered by Miss Sadie Adams. Adjourned.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The session was opened with prayer by H. L. Harvey. Prof. Shumaker lectured on Physical Geography. Prof. Hull, of Pittsburg gave some very fine recitations in reading. Several questions of interest were taken up and discussed by the members of the Institute. Adjourned.

THURSDAYS PROCEEDINGS.

Institute called to order by the President. Reading of the Scripture &c. The President again urged teachers to take a more earnest interest in the exercises. Prof. Bergan resumed his drill on object lessons. The County Superintendent suggested that it would be much better if all teachers would give object lessons in their schools. Prof. Shumaker resumed his drill in English Grammer. Prof. Gulich, of Clearfield gave select reading, subject, "charcoal." Prof. Shumaker sang the song "Beautiful Hills." Prof. Hughs resumed his class drill in arithmatic. Questions were proposed, answered and explained and finally postponed until next day. Adjourned.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Exercises opened with prayer by H. L. Harvey. Prof. Starh took up the subject of teaching composition in the common schools. This being Directors day the roll of Directors was called, but not over one fourth the number in the county were present. The following questions were proposed and ably discussed.

What change, if any, should be made in regard to Directorship? The unequal mode of taxation. The shortness of school time. On the unequal mode of taxation Dr. Blair was called upon by the President and said that the school tax was beginning to be a burden on the people. He advocated a uniform method of taxation throughout the county &c. His ideas and theory were strenuously opposed by several directors.

On motion of Mr. Tobias, a committee of three was appointed to put the three previous questions in the form of a resolution for further consideration. Music by the Institute under the leadership of Prof. Shumaker; Miss Sopha Keller presiding at the organ.

The subject of teachers saleries was then taken up and ably discussed. The general sentiment of the Institute was that saleries should be sufficiently large to insure competent teachers, and that teachers should be paid according to their competency.

The committee appointed on Mr. Tobia's motion to draft resolutions reported the following:

Resolved. That in the event of this idea being enacted into a law, that it be required to keep the school open no less than eight months in the year.

Resolved. That teachers saleries should be graded in accordance with their qualifications.

The resolutions after being discussed were passed by nearly a unanimous vote. Adjourned.

In the evening Prof. Hull of Pittsburg delivered an excellent lecture on elocution.

FRIDAYS PROCEEDINGS.

Session opened with prayer. Singing, reading of the Scripture, and music on the organ by Prof. Shumaker.

It was moved and seconded that all members who refuse to pay their membership fee of 50 cents be published in the papers.

Mr. Rankin moved that the motion be indefinately postponed, Mr. Rankin's motion prevailed by 11 majority.

Prof. Shumaker, then in a few well timed remarks returned his heartfelt thanks for the kindness which had been extended to him by the members of the Institute, and bade them an affectionate farewell.

The history of the U. S., was read in rhyme in a masterly manner by F. W. Shultz, commencing with the first discovery of America and reciting all the notable events that transpired from that period down to the present time.

The theory of teaching was taken up, and Mr. Harshbarger illustrated the principle object of recitation. The following questions were then proposed:

What are the four principal modes of imparting knowledge? Answered by Mr. Shank.

What objections to the "concert method" of reciting? Answered by Prof. Bergner.

What are some of the objections to the method of allowing pupils to recite consecutively, or by turn. Answered by Mr. Morelock.

What is the difference between teaching and telling? Answered by Prof. Hughes of the Bellefonte Academy. He thought the concert method could not be disposed of. He thought it gave life to the class &c., but he said we must have the individual recitations to explain to the class. He thought that the pupil in answering the question should give the idea as well as the words. In his school he paid as much attention, if not more, to teaching ideas as he did words. In teaching mathametics he would insist upon the pupil learning the rule, as the rule emenates from the Principle. Every teacher should teach his pupils the sound of letters. He would exercise the pupils on sounds five minutes every day. In penmanship he would first acquaint the class with the elements and then the principal. He would take each letter of the alphabet and practice on them separately until they could write the whole alphabet and then give them a copy book. Adjourned.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Session opened with prayer. Vocal music by the Institute. Prof. Starh lectured on Mental Philosophy; Prof. Hull on the qualities of a good reader.

Mr. Gulich, of Clearfield, read "The Leap for Life" in a very sublime and eloquent style. Mr. Gulich is certainly one of the very best readers in the State, and in reading tragedy he cannot be excelled. He is as yet a young man and we predict a brilliant career awaits him.

The committee on elections reported that the following named persons had been elected officers of the Institute for the coming year?

Vice President's.—F. F. Jamison and Miss Annie M. Cooper.

Secretary.—W. W. Frank.

Assistant Secretaries.—W. F. Smith and Annie M. Porter.

Committee on Permanent Certificates.—Joseph Peters, Hannah Thompson, Sophia C. Keller and W. A. Tobias.

Auditing Committee.—D. F. Fortney, Henry Myer and Jacob Snyder.

The following questions were proposed and answered:

What are the advantages of reviews, and how frequent should they be? Answered by J. H. Twitmire. He said he would review once a week, on every Friday, what had been learned during the week, what he considered the most importnnt part of the lesson.

What method do you consider best in examining advanced classes, and Why? Answered by Miss Jennie Tibbins, she had given several methods a fair trial, and the topical method proved the best for various reasons which she gave.

How should "whispering" be regulated? Answered by Mr. Morelock who said that he would keep merit and demerit marks, and if a pupil would whisper he would give a demerit mark. He would allow pupils five minutes each day to do their whispering in. Since he had adopted that plan he had not been troubled much with whispering.

Mr. Frank thought whispering would regulate itself. He had never found a plan by which he could prevent it.

What is the natural punishment for tardiness? Answered by Miss Rosa A Woods, who thought that pupils should be kept in after school hours as being the most natural punishment.

What is the natural punishment for injuring school property? Answered by Miss Rachael Davis. She would require parents to repair all damages done by the pupils.

What is the natural punishment for improper conduct on the play-ground? Answered by Miss Kate Miller. She would prevent the same from being committed again by depriving the child of its regular recreation.

What is the natural punishment for whispering with a seat-mate. Answered by Mr Jamison. He would remove the whisperer to another seat, if that did not have the desired effect he would call the schoiar up and make him whisper in presence of all the pupils. Small children he would allow to whisper. Application by Mr Joseph Peters. Mr Hughs made some very appropriate remarks on school government. He said that it had given him great pleasure to meet with them and he wished every teacher the greatest success in their work which was more telling and less appreciated than any other kind of labor. He thought the influence going out from this Institute would have a beneficial effect on all the citizens of the county and hoped it would even permeate the Halls of our legislature to a good effect. He thanked those present for the information he had derived from them.

James H Rankin, Esq., offered the following resolution which was adopted:

Resolved that the Sunday school cause should be near the hearts of every teacher of the youth, and we pledge ourselves to work for its success.

The President made a few farewell remarks, hoping that all had been adequately benefitted. All had his best wishes for success.

Mr. Rankin said that on behalf of the citizens of Bellefonte, he would say they had been favorably impressed with the good conduct of the members of the Institute outside of the hall as well as during its sessions.

Resolution of thanks were voted to Messrs. Shumaker, Gulich, Bergner and others.

Prof. T. J. Smull was called upon and made some very humorous and pertenent remarks, after singing the long doxology the convention adjourned sine die.

REMARKS BY OUR REPORTER.

The sessions of the Insitute were of a peculiar interest, and we think highly beneficial to the teachers, the cause of good education and the community at large. It was well attended, promptly, pleasantly and systematically conducted. Important educational questions were fairly discussed by able and experienced Educators from abroad and of the county. The President presided with grace and ease. All the earnest teachers, of both sexes, of the county were present and aided to make the session a great success.

We have been obliged to abridge our report to a great extent, therefore it is not as interesting as it would have been. The Resolutions will be published next week.

LITTLE GRETCHEN.

A GERMAN DOCTOR'S STORY.

"Ah, doctor, I am glad I met you! We are getting up a party to attend the Shooting Festival, and want you to join us."

This was the manner in which my friend Captain Baumgarten accosted me one morning, a few days since, as I was stepping into my carriage to make my accustomed round of visits. I replied that I had not time, as there would probably be patients who would need my attention. Then followed a short, persuasive argument, and we parted with the understanding that I was to try and go up in the course of the day.

After my numerous visits, in which every one was fortunately doing well, I took my way to the grand festival of my German friends. It was six o'clock before I reached the the enchanted realm; and, not seeing the captain, I made up my mind to look about. Nothing had been spared to render the place inviting and picturesque. The many stands for lager beer were set off by festoons of the English and German flags, with here and there a banner belonging to this particular association. In among the trees, which skirted the many walls, was a sausage stand, ornamented by a most ludicrous picture, representing the man who ate sausage, and the man who did not. To my mind, the enormous size of the former was as painful as the skeleton proportions of his companion. Further on were arbors for such refreshments as soda-cream, cake, &c. The two pavilions of flying horses were also well adorned by flags and evergreens, while the whole was enlivened by merry groups and promenaders, whose happy faces seemed never to have known a care. The men, with their neat suits and graceful plumes; the women, in gay holiday attire, held a great interest for me.

There were also pavillons for dancers, and a "concert band," which performed most beautifully in another part of the grounds for the benefit of those who were fond of opera. In the centre of the park was erected an enclosed canopy, under which were displayed the various prizes. The first was an elegant gold-mounted rifle, then gold medals, sewing machines, China sets, silver services, clocks, watches, ornaments, &c. I saw nothing there I should have valued at less than three guineas. Presently I saw a small crowd approaching; and, upon nearer inspection, found it was the King; in other words, the one who had been the most successful in shooting—the winner of the highest honors. Attendant upon him was a man carrying an enormous bottle some three feet long, which had once been filled with Rhine wine, but was now two-thirds empty. Following this man came a boy bearing a goblet that corresponded in size with the bottle. All were in high glee; the King's broad, merry face was lighted by the jolliest of smiles, and, catching sight of me, he ordered some of the wine to be passed to the stranger. Forthwith the immense goblet was held under the mouth of the mammoth bottle, and half filled with superior wine; this was presented to me with great ceremony by the lad, and I drank to the health of the King a good draught, returning the glass. His majesty thanked me, and drained it.

By this time the shades of night were falling fast, and soon the grounds presented a most dazzling appearance. Wherever I turned, the grove was ablaze with numberless lamps and brilliantly-tinted transparencies, with here and there a flashing star formed of torches, or an arch of rainbow-colored lights.

As I wandered about, I saw a crowd collected at one extremity of the grounds and directed my course thither to learn the cause. It was presently apparent; upon a tight-rope stretched some sixty feet high, from tree to tree, was a man who moved cautiously yet gracefully forward, risking life and limb, for a certain sum a night. It was a giddy sight; and, as I gazed, there flashed across my mind another grove, another tight-rope, another gay throng gathered at a Shooting Festival, and my heart grew sick within me. I turned away, to sink weak and trembling upon the seat of a deserted harbor. Bowing my head upon my hands, I passed again through all the horrors of that "long ago."

Five years had not taken one pang from the thrilling incident. Again I saw the brightly-illumined park, the right-rope, the gay throng. I noted again a heavily-built, pitiless-looking man holding by the hand a delicate child, dressed as a dancer. I saw the great tears in the blue eyes, and heard the piteous cry of "Oh, father, I cannot! I cannot dance to night! My head aches! it is so dizzy! Oh, I will dance all day to-morrow! I will go without my supper. I will do anything! but I am afraid to——"

The child was interrupted by a rude shake and oath by the brute who held her.

"You shall go without your supper, and dance too," he growled; "now don't let me hear another word from you. If you fail, I will beat you until you are black and blue!"

The child's head sank upon her breast, and she was led passively forward. I had been really stunned by the terrible brutality I had overheard, but pressed through the crowd in time to see the child step upon the rope, holding her balance pole. The rope was some twenty-five or thirty feet above the ground; she stepped upon it timidly, advancing slowly to the centre, while the band played a lively march. She seemed to gain confidence as she proceeded, and I hoped all would be well. The people were loud in their applauses, as one after another of the daring feats were accomplished upon the trapeze, which was suspended from the centre. At length the child stood again upon the rope, this time without her balance pole; she walked quickly forward, with the evident intention of again executing some risky gymnast. When a few paces from the centre, she raised her hand to her head, swayed an instant, uttered a shriek, and fell. The second she had remained upon the rope gave some of the more present-minded opportunity of springing forward to save her. I had been on the alert, and was the first to start. I was in time, she fell in my arms, and both of us, by the concussion, were brought to the ground. In a moment I was upon my feet, but she lay insensible upon the grass. My medical knowledge was now called into requisition. I had the child conveyed to the nearest house and laid upon a sofa; then I worked over her for half an hour, while the father, in a rage, paced the floor, muttering to himself. When others were in the room, however, he counterfeited deep anxiety, and even forced a few tears through his hypocritical lids.

I could have hung him with a good relish, and more than once turned round with the intention of knocking him down, but desisted for little Gretchen's sake—that is what I had heard him call her.

At last she revived, and, ordering my carriage, I accompanied her to the humble house in which they lived. It proved to be only a square from my own residence, where I kept bachelor's hall. They had but one small room, with a bed and a few chairs. Gretchen's mother came forward to greet me, as I carried her child from the room, up two flights of rickety stairs, and laid her on the hard bed.

The woman was very slender and pale, with many gray hairs in the light tresses that were neatly brushed and twisted at the back of her head. She turned much paler as she saw my burden, but husband's look sealed the bloodless lips that had framed a cry of agony. I did all I could, and when at last I turned to go, I said I would send some broth for the child, and come again in the morning. The mother looked the gratitude she dared not utter, while the man growled out, "he didn't think there was any need for me to come again." As I passed out, I spoke to a kindlooking woman who was at the door, and asked her to look out for the child, also to come for me if she grew worse, backing my request with some money. I was perfectly infatuated with the little invalid and her mother, besides having a most intense desire to shoot the man.

It was half past twelve when I threw myself upon a lounge in my study and fell to thinking, intending to go to bed in a short time; but the hours rolled on, and I was chained by Morpheus to the realm of chimerical phantoms. Suddenly I was roused by a furious ring at the door-bell. Springing to my feet, I rushed out. The servant had already opened the door, and before me stood the woman I had requested to let me know how things went on. Gretchen had been my first thought, upon waking, and I was prepared to hear the words, "Oh, sir! Gretchen is——"

I waited for no more. Hatless, coatless, and in my slippers, I hastened out, telling my boy to bring my portable box of medicines.

In advance of the woman, I entered the house of poverty. It was about seven o'clock. Up, up I sped, passing into the room of my prodigy without any prelude. The man was not there; but the mother sat up in bed, with wild eyes and loosened hair, her night-robe still on, while beside her lay Gretchen, very still. I pressed to the bedside, and took the little sufferer's hand, expecting to find it burning with fever. I no sooner touched it than I started back with horror. It was cold and stiff in death. I could not mistake that icy pressure: and, yet, I threw aside the scant covering that partly concealed the face, and placed my ear to the heart in the vague hope that I was mistaken. But no! she had passed from this world, beyond pain, beyond recall. Congestion of the brain. I had not been prepared for this; and, strong physically and mentally as I was, I was obliged to take a chair, and bow my head on my hands for several moments, to regain my self-possession.

Then, for the first time, the mother spoke. I raised my head and watched her, as she smoothed the hair from her child's brow, and looked down smilingly into her face, saying, "Poor little Gretchen! how long she sleeps. She is tired, very tired. She said, 'Good night, mamma,' and then she went to sleep on my arm, and has slept so nice ever since. My poor, tired little Gretchen!"

Then, after a pause, she said, in a tender voice, "Gretchen, dear, father will come soon and beat you if you ain't up. Gretchen! Gretchen!" Then, with a shriek of frenzied agony, she threw up her arms, crying, "She's dead! she's dead! Oh, Gretchen, Gretchen!"

And then she took the lifeless clay, pressed it close to her, and covered the cold, still face with frantic kisses, in the frantic hope that she could wake her child to life.

The woman was crazed by this new sorrow, and required my most active attention for the next hour. I had her removed to my own house; and, after giving directions for her comfort, went again to the house where lay the corpse, watched by my boy. The father had not yet returned; and, with the assistance of the landlady, I got the child into a pretty coffin, which was also conveyed to my house, and set in the parlor.

I saw plainly the child had been dead for some hours; in fact, she must have died about one o'clock that morning, and the poor mother had slept since that time with the precious clay upon her heart, never dreaming but that the pulse beat as regularly as in the days past.

I avoided an inquest, and had the child buried quietly in the churchyard. The father had been dumb with awe and anger when he stood beside the bier of his little daughter, and raved like a madman because she could no longer be a source of profit to him. Then I turned and told him that if he did not leave the house and city immediately, I would deliver him to the authorities as the murderer of the child. He slunk away without a word, and I never saw him again.

The mother lived for three days, never once having a lucid moment; then with the name of "Gretchen" upon her lips, she died, and we laid her beside her child.

I lifted my head, and saw that part of the ground in which I sat was nearly deserted. A full hour had passed amid these terrible scenes of memory. The scene had lost its charm. I shuddered as I passed the coil of rope that had so recently supported a human being, and as soon as possible left the park, with a heart made heavy by the sufferings of others.

"The Bondage of The Pulpit."

This is the title of a paper in Scribner's Monthly, which rather sweepingly charges the preachers of the country with lacking moral courage, while not lacking all other qualifications for their work. They can and do grow warm in denunciation of the suttee and the Ganges; they preach tol'rable strong,

Against sin in the abstract, for that king o' wrong
Is always unpopular and never gets pitied,
Because it's a sin no one ever committed;
But they mustn't be hard on particular sins,
Cause then they'd be kickin' the people's own shins;

that the clergy of our day are time-servers, timorous about giving offence, willing to hit everybody but not to hit anybody; in short, in bondage to their fears of the probable consequences of a more outspoken utterance.

The picture is not pleasant, but there is some truth in it. Ministers are but men, and being men, it is quite natural for them to drift into furnishing only that sort of service which they are really hired to furnish. Of course, they are placed over their people to admonish them of sins committed and likely to be committed, and to allure to brighter worlds, and lead the way; but then there are distinctions and differences. Most people like not only to feel that they are travelling on the road to heaven, but that they are on first-class trains, and so they want gentlemanly conductors. The demand is for a man who will prophesy smooth things and build up a church; the turmoil and unrest of the six days all removed out of sight, pray let us be comfortable! say the pews, and the pulpit is expected to beam upon them in blessing.

The call invites the reverned brother to come and preach conviction of sin, and of a judgment to come; the conventional and well-established understanding is that he shall do nothing of the sort. To denounce sin in the lump and sinners in the crowd, is legitimate and expected; but if the preacher should bend over from his pulpit-cushions and say; "There is knavery in this congregation, and there sits a knave in that pew, a hypocrite in this, a false professor in that"—would it do at all? And if it would not, if the little hourly conventional deceits which run all through society, have all to be practised by the preacher; and he may be as wise as a serpent but must be harmless as a dove, is there not fault in the people, and some excuse for the preacher? Manifestly, he cannot live and work in the hot water of perpetual bickerings and accusations. If he cry aloud and spare not, and thereby excite a thousand personal enmities that destroy his influence, he does no more good than if his lips dripped with oil and honey. If this is the result of his plain-speaking, but perhaps it might not be. But no man is called upon to attack superior numbers, to part with prudence, or to leave consequences altogether with Providence; duty is continually a compromise between extremes, and it is in every case the part of the preacher to decide whether it is best, as regards the effectiveness of his work, to use no reserve. Whether he shall not be all things to all men, for the purpose of winning some; whether he shall say outright to any, "Thou art the man," is a question he may rightfully and seriously consider, knowing that to peril his influence is to peril all his professional work.

Wealth.

A correspondent asks this question, substantially, when he says:—"Am I richer or poorer for enjoying what I earn, as I go along, by devoting my gains to the improvement of my mind, the enlargement of my sphere of usefulness, and the happiness of my family, instead of hoarding it up, in order that when I die, the answer to the usual question, 'How much was he worth?' may be, 'Two hundred thousand dollars,' more or less?"

A distinction should always be, and is too rarely, made between capital and wealth. One man possessed of large capital—of whatever character, whether money, or the sources for commanding credit—is not necessarily wealthy. We do not regard a man wealth who has not about him and does not use the resources which secure his happiness. And we do regard that man more wealthy who has not about him and does not use the resources which secure his happiness. And we do regard that man more wealthy who has the resources and renders them available and active, though he does not own a thousand dollars of capital, than the man who is possessed of tens of thousands of dollars, and yet is discontented, disagreeable to himself and friends, and unhappy generally. A man's capital may be in cash, land, stocks, mines, ships, carts, skill, or brains, and yet, if it does not yield him what all men seek, happiness, he is not wealthy.

A nation's wealthy does not consist altogether in its natural resources, but in the uses to which they are applied, in order to promote and secure the prosperity and happiness of the people. So long as the gold of California is locked up in the quarz of the mountains, it is not wealth. Liberate it from its rocky bonds, put it in shape to become of service to man, and it becomes of service to man, and it becomes one resource for wealth. It cannot pay the national debt now; it cannot set in motion our grain products, lying there in its normal state; but crush the quartz, separate the precious metal from the worthless dross, and put it into the hands of enterprising men, and it becomes an element in the national wealth. Lock it up, in the shape of coin, in the vaults of the Treasury, without making it the base for the circulation of its representatative value, it adds nothing to the national activities, feeds no hungry man, woman or child, clothes no naked one, ministers to no one's enjoyment, and, therefore, might as well not exist. And yet, it is capital; it is money; but it is not wealth.

Such is the distinction we make. Capital is not wealth, unless it is used, and used properly.

A Capital Joke.

And all the more palatable because it is true, and can be vouched for, took place a few Sundays since at one of the prominent New Jersey churches. It seems that a worthy deacon had been very industrious in selling a new church book, costing seventy-five cents. At the services in question, the minister, just before dismissing the congregation, rose and said: "All those who have children to baptise will please present them next Sabbath.". The deacon, who, by the way, was a little deaf, having an eye to selling the books, and supposing his pastor was referring to them, immediately jumped up and shouted. "And all you who haven't any, can get as many as you wan't by calling on me, at seventy-five cents each."

The preacher looked cross-eyed at the brothers, and the brothers looked at the clergyman; the audience punched the audience in the side, the bubble grew larger until it burst into a loud guffaw; ladies colored up, crimsoned, blushed, and thanked the Lord for the low price of peopling the earth. There was no benediction that morning worth speaking of.

The deacon, after he had found out his mistake, changed his pew from the front of the church to the third from the rear; and though he cannot hear the sermon, he is consoled with the thought that the young ladies can't snicker at him.

A BEAUTIFUL THOUGHT.—We know not the author of the following, but it is one of the most beautiful productions we ever read:—"Nature will be repeated. All things are engaged in writing their own history. The plant and pebble go attended by their own shadow. The rock leaves its scratches on the mountain side, the river its bed in the soil; the animal leaves bone in the stratum, the fern and the leaf their modest epitaph in the coal. The falling drop makes its epitaph in the sand or stone; not a footstep in the snow or along the ground but prints in characters more or less lasting a map of its march; every act of man inscribes itself on the memories of its followers and in his own face. The air is full of sound; the ground is all memoranda signatures; and every object is covered over with hints which speak to the intelligent."

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

Wednesday Morning, January 4, 1871.

THE WAYSIDE FLOWER.

BY HENRY C. WATSON.

She was a wayside flower
Of lowliest degree,
But as I loved her tenderly
What mattered it to me?
I saw that she was beautiful—
I knew that she was good—
In simpleness and truth, the type
Of perfect womanhood.

A farmer's daughter only,
Unlearned in fashion's lore
Contented with her lot in life,
She sighed for nothing more,
Her voice was like an angel's,
So fresh, so rich, so young;
The lark paused in its heavenward flight,
To listen as she sung.

Care of Horses' Legs.

Few men who handle horses give proper attention to the feet and legs. Especially is this the case on farms. Much time is spent of a morning in rubbing, brushing and smoothing the hair on the sides and hips, but at no time are the feet examined and properly cared for. Now, be it known, that in this six-thousand year old world of ours, the feet of a horse need more care than the body. They need ten times as much for in one respect they are almost the entire horse. All the grooming that can be done won't avail anything, if the horse is forced to stand where his feet will be filthy. In this case the feet will become disordered, and then the legs will get badly out of fix, and with bad feet and bad legs, there is not much else of the horse fit for anything. Stable prisons generally, are terribly severe on the feet and legs of horses, and unless these buildings can afford a dry room. Where a horse can walk around, lie down or roll over, they are not half so healthy and comfortable to the horse as the pasture, and should be avoided by all good hostlers in the country.

Salt for Swine.

While all other domestic animals are regularly supplied with salt, the hog is generally neglected. He requires, however, to be as constantly supplied as the ox, the horse, or the sheep, and suffers as much from privation as either of the above named animals do. His food is almost invariably given to him in a fresh and unseasoned state, and to this fact we may doubtless attribute many of the violent and fatal diseases to which he is subject, and which stagger all remedies, however promptly and skillfully administered. If the food be not regularly seasoned, there should be a trough or box in every sty, in which salt may be deposited regularly for the use of the animals. Seasoning the food judiciously would be much the best way. As seasoning the food of the hog is mentioned above, let it be understood that salt only is here alluded to, for if any person should try seasoning with pepper they will make a great mistake; for as much pepper as will suffice for a man's dinner will kill a hog.

Cooking Food for Domestic Animals.

All doubt of the economy of cooking, by steaming the food fed in winter to all the domestic animals, is removed by the many careful experiments that have been made under a great variety of circumstances, by the most reliable men in the country. The improvement and reduction of the cost of steam generators has, of late, been very great The danger from their use has greatly retarded the more general introduction of arragements for steaming food for stock. They are very economical and safe, operate well, and are so simple that any farm hand can run them.

A great advantage arising from steaming all the food for stock, in which there are liable to be seeds of any description, is, that the vitality of such is destroyed, and the manure is freed from all noxious weed seeds a matter of much greater importance than it is considered by culturists generally.

The chaff of our grain crops, which contains most of the foul seed gathered with the crops, should be steamed to destroy the vitality of the seed, ere it goes into the manure heap. If not steamed before it is returned to the land, it would be better to burn it, rather than take such an amount of foul seeds back on the land.

GUMBO.—Take a nice fat hen, or two chickens, cut up and put into a pot to fry; when it is fried brown, not scorched, put in two quarts of finely sliced okra, (the white is preferable), four large tomatoes, and two onions, peeled and chopped fine. Keep covered with water, and have the kettle tightly closed.

CEMENT FOR IRON AND STONE.—Glycerine and litharge, stirred to a paste, hardens rapidly, and makes a durable cement for iron upon iron, for two stone surfaces, and especially for fastening iron in stone. The cement is insoluble, and is not attacked by strong acids.

Bones and Ashes.

Bones and ashes pass through the housekeeper's hands every day. Wood is still the chief fuel in the farm house, and the value of the ashes is pretty well understood. They are prized for the lye they yield, and if there is a surplus from the soap-making, they help the kitchen garden at the back door. The bones are generally thrown to the dog and lost. Now, if the careful housewife would save the bones as regularly as the ashes, she would practice a wiser economy, and help her kitchen garden twice as fast. Bones are worth twice as much as ashes for manure, if dissolved, and the ashes will reduce them. Put both into a barrel in a cellar, if you please, and after mixing them half and half, keep them constantly moist with soapsuds, the hotter the better. The suds should not be poured on in such quantities as to leach the ashes. In a few months the bones will be disintegrated, and the whole mass may then be mixed, and will make an excellent fertilizer for the flower border on the kitchen garden.

Ventilation.

Fresh air by day and by night, strong and nourishing food, dry soil on which to live, sunlight and warm clothing, are the means of saving many lives which would have been hopelessly lost in the preceding generation. If our conjectures are correct, this improvement may be expected to continue, and everybody can help to make it greater. Ventilate the schoolrooms, and the workshops, and the stores, and the houses. In cold weather let the air, comfortable and equally warmed, be generally supplied from without in a constantly flowing current. Let those who can provide it in their homes remember that an open fire, which sends two thirds of the heat up the chimney, furnishes the best ventilation for a room of moderate size, which the ingenuity of man has yet devised, and that the heat escaping by the flue is the price to be paid for it. Let in the sunlight, and never mind the carpets; better they should fade than the health of the family. When a man proposes to build a dwelling in the swamp, warn him of his danger.

AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT.—The government report for Dec. says the present corn crop is the largest crop since 1860, the average per acre being estimated at twenty-eight bushels.—The product of sorghum is larger than last year; the tobacco crop is comparatively large; hay is less by about fifteen per cent. than that of 1869, and the potato crop is little more than four-fifths of what it was last year. There is a gain in the sweet potato crop, a loss in buckwheat, and a slight increase in the quantity of flax. The present has been a fruitful year for orchards and vineyards in the Eastern, Middle, and Western States, but less productive in the South, and in California and Oregon, as to apples and pears. Altogether, the country has been blessed with comparatively abundant harvest. While Europe has warred America has tilled; and as the result we have peace and plenty, while the garden of Europe has been made desolate by fire and sword.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES OF EGGS.—We find the following in an exchange; "The white of an egg has proved of late the most effacious remedy for burns. Seven or eight applications of this substance soothe the pain, and effectually exclude the burned parts from the air. This simple remedy seems preferable to collodion, or even cotton. Extraordinaay stories are told of a new oil, which is easily made from the yolk of hens' eggs. The eggs are first boiled hard, and the yolks are then removed, crushed and placed over the fire, where they are carefully stirred until the whole substance is just on the point of catching fire, when the oil separates and may be poured off. One yolk will yield nearly two tablespoonsful of oil. It is in general use among the colonists of South Russia, as a means of curing cuts, bruises and scratches.

REMEDY FOR SADDLE GALLS.—In answer to a correspondent, Wilkes' Spirit says:—If the back is considerably swollen, it should be well fomented for at least half an hour, and then bathed with a lotion composed of two drachms of Goulard's extract; one ounce of glycerine, in half a pint of water. The saddle should never be re applied until the sore is healed, and the skin is free from all inflammation, even if considerable inconvenience is thereby suffered. The best palliative we know of, consists in placing a green cabbage leaf over the bruised part, and keeping the saddle on for an hour or two after work.

ONE end of the Ohio double baby has got the croup.

MANHOOD

In the Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which Nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so facinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision Langour, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this Medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases Insanity and Consumption! The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth or Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur, it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, January 4, 1871.

HONOR TO WHOM, &C.

On the 19th of December, 1870, we left home to visit Washington City, on business. We attended to our business of course, and shall not trespass upon the patience of our readers with a long account of what we learned, or of what we saw. But we think we would be derilict of duty if we did not make a passing notice of General Francis A. Walker. Through the affability and politeness of D. S. Keller, one of our own citizens, and a young man of whom Centre county may well feel proud, we made the acquaintance of Gen'l Walker. Gen'l Walker as everybody knows, is superintendent of the Census. The Gen. is about 32 or 33 years of age, is a native of North Brookfield, Worcester county, Mass. and a son of the Hon. Amasa Walker, one of America's most celebrated writers on financial topics and political economy.

The Gen. is a graduate of Amherst College, shortly after quitting which he entered (in the 20th Mass. Vol., we believe,) the military service of the United States. His fitness for Staff duty, soon became apparent, and in a short time after entering the army he was promoted to the responsible position of Assistant Adg't Gen'l of the 2nd Army Corps, a situation he filled most ably and acceptably during nearly the whole of the existence of said corps, being severely wounded once or twice.

Some time after the close of the war, he accepted the position of Deputy Special Commissioner of the Revenue in charge of the Bureau of Statistics. Having redeemed this office from the mismanagement of Delmar, and brought it to a high state of efficiency, he was tendered his present high and responsible position.

The General entered upon the work of the Census, with the same energy which had characterized his previous career, and it is safe to predict, that the Ninth Census will be the most complete, yet laid before the country. The last Census taken under the Administration of President Buchanan was a failure. The Census of 1870, taken under the supervision of Gen. Walker will be a complete success—perfect in every particular. It will be alike honorable to President Grant and his faithful appointee, Gen. Walker.

The Gen. is evidently the right man in the right place. His idea is to give the facts elicited by the Census, to the public as soon as possible, in order that practical benefits may be derived therefrom, instead of delaying their publication by useless refinements (in the way of changing the arrangement of the same matter into an endless series of tables, valuable only, to the curious) until their practical value is altogether gone. Thus the tables of Mortality, so valuable in the matter of Life Insurance, will be published during this year (1871), those of the Eighth Census, were published in 1866, six years after the Census was taken. So much the country owes to a faithful officer, appointed by one of the best of Presidents—Gen. Grant.

Of the census office clerks it is safe to say, that since the organization of the Government there has never been assembled in any one office, so large a number of intelligent and hard working clerks. We learned while there that they were poorly paid—they looked cheerful it is true, and we can vouch for their industry, yet we could not avoid thinking that a great Government like ours should see that her clerks, were paid and well paid. They do the work and they should receive good salaries. Why work a man eight or ten hours a day, steadily, systematically and vigorously and then withhold from him his hard earned dues? We sincerely hope that Congress will see the justice of putting them upon an equal footing, as to compensation, with the clerks in other offices. To this thought, or hope we earnestly call the attention of our able and efficient member the Hon. Wm. H. Armstrong. Members of Congress as well as county politicians would do well to remember, that the road to political honor lies in doing justice to the laboring man—the man of toil, of work and muscle—the men who do the fighting, if needs be, while others do the talking. It is right and proper that the Administration economize the expenses of the Government; but this economy should not be so rigid and so exacting as to impoverish or embarrass in any way that useful class of citizens—government clerks.

Gen'l Walker seems to have infused his own spirit into the majority of his clerks. All had to sustain a rigid examination before receiving their appointment, and Gen'l Walker's own habits of punctuality and despatch are responded to in a manner at once pleasing and astonishing. And yet no one feels pushed, or driven. We have been personally assured by several of the clerks, that nothing could be kinder than the treatment they have uniformly received from the Superintendent, and were ourself witness to his courtesy and affability. Each clerk understands that he will be treated like a gentleman, so long as he deserves it.

We have written the foregoing for the double purpose of doing justice to Gen'l Walker—a gentleman in every sense of the word, a brave and faithful soldier, and efficient officer in his present position, and to arouse Congress, if possible, to go to work at once and secure justice to the clerks, not only in this, but in all the departments.

The Clerical force of the Census Office, under Gen. Walker is organized in seven divisions. The division of Correspondence, W. J. Warren, Chief. The 1st Population Division, C. S. Mixter, Chief; S. A. Galpin, Assistant Chief of Division; E. S Zevely, G. T. May and A. B. Hiltman, Chiefs of Section.

The 2nd Population Division, C. W. Seaton, Chief; J. W. Bradshaw, Assistant Chief of Division; F. L. Campbell, G. W. Richards and A. de Witzleben, Chiefs of Section.

The 3rd Population Division, H. Stone, Chief; O. L. Hart, Assistant Chief of Division; J. R. Davis, S. Brashears and E. E. Gilbert, Chiefs of Section.

The Division of Mortality, Manufactures and Miscellaneous Statistics, D. S. Keller, Chief; J. Q. Adams, Assistant Chief of Division; G. Y. AtLee, J. M. Wilson and W. H. Boyd, Chiefs of Sections.

The Division of Agriculture, A. W. Paine, Chief. The Division of Results, S. W. Stocking, Chief.

Our visit to this department was indeed a pleasant one, and we hope that the friendship formed with Gen. Walker and his Chiefs and Assistant Chiefs, &c., may be perpetual, and may they and we enjoy health, happiness and prosperity, not only during the year 1871; but through all the years allotted us in this land of probation.

WHAT IS IT?

Conservative, what does it mean? What does conservatism in politics mean? In all of the Southern States there is a party calling itself the Conservative party. It is in opposition to the Republican party. What the policy of these Conservatives is, is hard to discover or define if it is not to re-instate to power the rebels and their sympathisers in the North. McCreery who would restore Arlington to the widow of Gen. R. E. Lee, and dig up the bones of the Union soldiers, now buried there, and cart them into the Potomac, is, at home, a Conservative—a Democrat an ex-Rebel. Conservatism is but another word for ignorance, superstition, slavery, treason, rebellion and the overthrow of the Government. A man if he wishes to be anybody, or amount to any thing, either in church or State, must be a positive man, not a blind leader of the blind, not a wish-a washy now you see it and now you don't, but a bold, courageous outspoken member of society. Speaking his opinions upon all subjects without fear, favor or affection. Let the Republican party rout out its Conservatives, or educate them up to the true standard. Let the trimmers cease to trim; let the moral cowards throw off their fears; let the morally brave be brave and candid; let Republicans be Republicans in earnest, in deed and in truth; let Democrats be Democrats; but let us hope that the masses of that party will soon open their eyes to the light and discover that that party is not only a sham, but the natural enemy alike of a Republican form of Government and of the workingmen.

ALASKA.—Where on this globe can we go beyond the omnipresent Yankee?—Landing at Sitka, we had walked but a short distance into the town when we reached the northern depot of Dr. Ayer's medicines in full display among the huts, shanties and courts of these boreal tribes. There the familiar, homelike names of his Cherry Pectoral Pills, &c., salute us from the exterior and the interior of a store which shows more business than its neighbors, and proves that these simple but sure remedies are even more necessary to savage life than to ourselves where they visit every fireside. [Correspondent of Alexand. Journal.

CONGRESS having adjourned over the holidays, we have nothing new from that body, however, they were to be in session yesterday, and as this session appears to mean business, we may look for interesting news from that body during the remainder of the session.

Natural, Artificial help to the human eye ever known,
They are ground under their own supervision, from minute Crystal Pebbles, melted together, and derive their name "Diamond," on account of their hardness and brilliancy. THE SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLE on which they are constructed brings the core or centre of the lens directly in front of the eye, producing a clear and distinct vision, as in the natural, healthy sight, and preventing all unpleasant sensations, such as glimmering and wavering of sight, dizziness, &c., peculiar to all others in use. They are Mounted in the Finest Manner. In frames of the best quality, of all materials used for that purpose. THEIR FINISH AND DURABILITY cannot be surpassed.
CAUTION.—None genuine unless bearing their trade mark stamped on every frame.

Medical.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
For all the the Purpose of a Laxative medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use in every county and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, knows that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterous drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh, and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal vicera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions from the stomach' bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, BILLIOUS HEADACHE, SICK HEADACHE, JAUNDICE or GREEN SICKNESS, BILLIOUS COLIC and BILLIOUS FEVERS, they should be judiciously taken for each case to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back or Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For DROPSY and DROPSICAL SWELLINGS they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Higher Up.

This was Daniel Webster's brief reply to a young lawyer who complained that the legal profession was crowded. There is room "higher up," said the great lawyer. This reply indicates a great truth, not only in the professions, but in all departments of industrial life. All departments of industry are crowded low down among workmen, while there is not half a supply in the higher departments of head-work or hand-work. Trained and faithful domestics who will do their work and keep their places from year to year, command the highest wages, get the best treatment, and are always wanted in still greater numbers. A wealthy family in Boston, wishing to spend the summer out of the city, closed their city house, sent their whole servant force to a good boarding house in the country, continued their wages, and paid their board bills, rather than part whith them. And there are other places "high up" who are ready for just such servants.

The boy at school who does every task perfectly, is preparing for first honors at the high school and the college and steps naturally and confidently in the places "higher up," in all the learned and lucrative professions. The apprentice or under workman who does everything which he undertakes promptly and well, is forming those habits, and gaining that reputation which will give him a position "higher up," among the master-workmen of his craft, and a competence for himself and his family.

Hugh Miller, who has found a place "higher up" among scholars, learned his trade as a mason of and old man "who made conscience of ever stone he laid." The walls built by uncle David never budged or settled, and no boy in his employ was ever allowed to slight the most unimportant piece of work. The workman needs to "put conscience into his work" far more for his own sake than for the sake of his employer. To slight your work is to slight yourself more than your work. It keeps you in the great crowded army of incapabels whom nobody wants. In claiming positions of honor, you may "take your place in the lower." But in seeking positions of useful industry, sit thee down in the "highest room," and make it certain that no man more useful than thyself can claim thy place, being more useful, and therefore more honorable than thou art.

Live Within Your Means.

We don't like stinginess. We don't like economy, when it comes down to rags and starvation. We have no sympathy with the notion that a poor man should hitch himself fast to a post, and stand still, while the rest of the world moves forward. It is no man's duty to deny himself every amusement, every recreation, every comfort, that he may get rich. It is no man's duty to make an iceberg of himself, to shut his eyes and ears to the sufferings of his fellows, and deny himself the enjoyment that results from generous actions, merely that he may hoard wealth for his heirs to quarrel about. But there is an economy which is every man's duty, and which is especially commendably in the man who struggles with poverty—an economy which is consistent with happiness, and which must be practised if the poor man would secure independence. It is almost every man's privilege, and it becomes his duty to live within his means—not up to them, but within them. Wealth does not make the man, we admit, and should never be taken into account in our judgment of men, but competence should always be secured, when it can be, by the practice of economy and self-denial to only a tolerable extent. It should be secured, not so much for others to look upon, or raise us in the estimation of others, as to secure the consciousness of independence, and the constent satisfaction which is derived from its acquirement and possession.

A Curious Discovery.

A man at Constantinople having left in charge of a friend of his a purse without seam or joint, in which he had placed a considerable number of diamonds, complained on his return from distant travel that his number of jewels was not correct. The friend maintained the integrity of his trust, and adduced as proof, the entire woof of the purse, in which neither seam nor joint appeared, and the seal of the owner still remained untouched at the mouth of the purse. The owner of the jewels was forced to admit both facts, but still persisted that the amount of diamonds was no longer what he had left. The case was brought before more than one magistrate, but nothing could be elicited upon the subject, and the unaltered condition of the purse, which the owner could not deny, was considered conclusive evidence against his claim. In despair, he applied to the Sultan himself, and the strange persistency of this demand impressed the latter so much, that, though compelled, upon the face of the facts, to dismiss his claim as untenable, the subject remained impressed on his mind, and induced him to try the following experiment: At prayer the next morning when the slave who usually brought the carpet upon which he knelt, had withdrawn, he made a long slit in it, and left it to be again withdrawn by the slave. When the latter came to fulfill his duty of rolling up and removing the precious carpet, he remained aghast at the injury it had received, and immediately apprehending the dreadful effect of the Sultan's displeasure, hastened with the rug to the quarter of the city where certain cobblers resided and seeking out one peculiarly renowned for his skill, committed it to his best exercise of it, and carried it back so restored that the next morning it laid spread for the Sultan's use, without the trace of either damage or reparation. The Sultan no sooner perceived what had been done than he called the slave, who tremblingly confessed what he had done. He was immediately dispatched in search of the pre-eminent cobbler, and when the man appeared before the Sultan, the latter sending for the sealed purse about which the controversy had been held, charged him with having in like manner repaired a slit in the woof of the apparently uninjured bag. The man instantly admitted the fact, and thus the reclamation of the poor defrauded friend and diamond owner was substantiated.

Moral Courage in Every-Day Life.

Have the courage to discharge a debt while you have the money in your pocket.

Have the courage to do without that which you do not need, however much your eyes may covet it.

Have the courage to speak your mind where it is necessary you should do so, and to hold your tongue when it is prudent you should do so.

Have the courage to speak to a friend in a "seedy" coat, even though you are in company with a rich one, and richly attired.

Have the courage to make a will, and a just one.

Have the courage to tell a man why you will not lend him your money.

Have the courage to "cut" the most agreeable acquaintance you have, when you are convinced that he lacks principle. "A friend should bear with a friend's infirmities," but not with his vices.

Have the courage to show your respect for honesty, in whatever guise it appears; and your contempt for dishonest duplicity by whomsoever exhibited.

Have the courage to wear your old clothes until you can buy new ones.

Have the courage to obey your Maker, at the risk of being ridiculed by man.

Have the courage to prefer comfort and propriety to fashion, in all things.

Have the courage to acknowledge your ignorance, rather than to seek credit for knowledge under false pretence.

Have the courage to provide entertainment for your friends, within your means—not beyond.

Have the courage to take a good paper and to pay for it annually in advance.

A FRANK STATEMENT.—This is the perfectly frank statement of Mr. Sambo Green, a negro prisoner in Detroit, as he lied him to the penitentiary for some slight irregularity called larceny, Said he—"For God, when that lawyer dat 'fended me made his speech, I thought shuah I was going to take my ole hat and walk right out of dat co't-room; but when t'odder lawyer got up and commenced talkin' I knew I was de wust niggah on top of the earf."

LAMPS do not talk, they simply shine. A lighthouse sounds no drum, it beats no gong, and yet far over the waters its friendly spark is seen by the mariner. So should it be with religion, which should be proclaimed and made known by its quiet works, rather than by loud or frequent protestations.

THE small stones which fill up the crevices, have almost as much to do with making the fair and firm wall as the great rocks, so the right and wise use of spare moments contributes not a little to the building up, in good proportion with strength, a man's mind.

The Bellefonte REPUBLICAN is now the neatest and best paper published in the State.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.
Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions of the Skin, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One Bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

This Remedy does not simply relieve for a short time, but it produces perfect and permanent cures of the worst cases of Chronic Nasal Catarrh, and I will pay $500 reward for a case that I cannot cure. "Cold in the head" and Catarrhal Headache are cured with a few applications. If you have a discharge from the nose, offensive or otherwise, stopping up of the nose at times, partial loss of the sense of smell, taste or hearing, eyes watering or weak, feel dull, have pain or pressure in the head, you may rest assured that you have Catarrh. Thousands annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, terminate in Consumption and end in the grave. No diseases is so common, more deceptive or less understood by physicians. I will send my pamphlet on Catarrh to any address free. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is now

SOLD BY MOST DRUGGISTS IN ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

Price 50 cents. Sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of 60 cents, or four packages for two dollars. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. ROSADALIS.

THE GREAT AMERICAN health RESTORER, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin diseases, Rheumatism, and all Chronic Affections of the blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the Medical Faculty and many thousands of our best citizens. Read the testimony of Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis; send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health Book, or Almanac for this year, which we publish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information.

Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says
I take pleasure in recommending your Rosadalis as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.

Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of Scrofula and Secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleaner of the Blood I know no better remedy.

Samuel G. McFadden, Murfreesborough, Tenn., says:
I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis, and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes.

Benjamin Bechtol, of Lima, Ohio, writes, I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.

Rosadalis is sold by F. P. GREEN, and Druggists generally.

COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.

Sung to the tune of Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now complete connections made,
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedy and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of Spring and Summer clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

People who travel by other routes, and also people who, instead of travelling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest price.

Do not fail to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere; if you do not, we are sure you will be sorry that you did not. Our goods are put down to the lowest figure. We sell whole suits, according to quality.

HOME NEWS.

CROWDED OUT.—Much interesting matter, to make room for report of the teachers Institute.

THE Holidaysburg Register wants to know if cotton used for breast works will support infantry?

JOHN MAYS near Fairview, this county, recently slaughtered a hog that weighed when dressed 437 pounds.

You can pay your Premiums monthly in the Homestead Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia—See Advertisement.

SHOULD you wish to discontinue your policy in the Homestead Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia, they will pay you the cash value for it.

IN walking the streets on a slippery morning, one can easily see where the good natured people live, by the ashes thrown on the ice before the door.

BIG BUCK.—Mr. M. Fetzer, of Burnside township, this county, brought to this place a five pronged buck that he had killed which weighed 243 pounds.

KILLED.—A young man by the name of Jerry Sankey, son of Wm. Sankey, who lives at Karthouse, was killed by a tree falling on him, one day last week.

SOMETHING NEW.—The latest thing in funeral processions, in Huntingdon county, is a wagon to precede the hearse bearing a bell, which is tolled en route to the grave.

A QUESTION ANSWERED.—The Christian Register asks, "will the coming man go to church?" Not unless the "coming preacher" preaches better than some that have come.

ANOTHER GEOGRAPHICAL EDITOR.—The editor of the Philipsburg Journal locates Reynoldsville in Clearfield Co. The aforesaid place is not in Clearfield county but in Jefferson county, eleven miles east of Brookville, the county seat of Jefferson county.

ABOUT THE DEVIL.—A wag wants to know if the devil was to die, if the newspapers would not eulogize his character. We can't say, but one thing is pretty certain, if they did'nt the editors would be pretty sure to get unceremonious orders from some of the friends of the deceased—"Stop my paper."

FIRE.—On Thursday night of the 24th ult., the store of J. B. Hahn, at Milesburg, with all its contents was destroyed by fire. It is supposed to have been the work of an incendery. The loss was heavy as we understand there was but a small insurance on the property destroyed. Mr. Hahn lost all his books, accounts and notes.

WELCOME.—Mr. D. Allison, formerly of Spring Mills, this county, but now residing at Cherry Forks, Adams county Ohio, called on us the other day. Mr. Allison was one of Centre county's best citizens, and his adopted state has gained much by his becoming one of her citizens, as he is an intelligent and enterprising gentleman.

FATALLY INJURED.—C. M. Kephart, son of Philip Kephart of this place, was so severely injured on the railroad near Kansas City Mo., that he died at that place, one day last week. Mr. Kephart was a young man of promising ability and had resided at Kansas city, for several years where he was engaged on the railroad. His body was brought to this place for sepulture.

CHRISTMAS BALL.—The Christmas ball which came off in Bush's Hall on Christmas eve., under the management of Geo. F. Ronion, Esq., proprietor of the Big Spring Eating House, was the largest that ever took place in our town. Everything passed off harmoniously, and the eatables and refreshments furnished for the occasion were all that the most fastidious epicure could desire.

AN ELECTION.—The lady members of the M. E. Church at Curtin's Forge have manufactured a beautiful quilt which they have agreed to give to the candidate receiving the largest number of votes. Rev. Mr. Cleaver of Milesburg, and Rev. Mr. Mullen of this place are the candidates. The price of a vote is 25 cents, the money to be applied to the erection of a new church at the forge. Any other party or church wishing to put up any other candidates are at liberty to do so.

RESIGNED.—Rev. J. M. Perry, for nearly four years pastor of the Baptist church in this place, has dissolved his connection with that congregation and accepted a call at Milesburg, Centre county, this State, and will preach his farewell sermon on Sabbath (Christmas) evening, Dec. 25th. Mr. Perry while in this community, endeared himself not only to the members of his congregation but to our citizens generally, and his call to labor in another field is a source of much regret to his many friends and acquaintances.—Mercer Co. Argus.

IMPORTANT TO EX-SOLDIERS.—The late cession of Congress passed an Act giving all honorably discharged soldiers a homestead of 160 acres of the public domain, in regard to the selection and occupation of that homestead, Daniel Welsh, Esq., a claim Agent at Washington city, and who formerly resided in this place, writes that all who wish to secure the Bounty land which they are entitled to, must first addrss a letter to the Commissioner of the Land office in Washington city, applying for a warrant and state where the applicant desires to locate the land, and where he intends to settle. Instructions will then be issued and he must appear in person, before the Register and Recorder of the Land District, he may determine upon settling in and take the necessary affidavits required in such cases as no claim agent can do anything for him in the premises, because under the law it is required that applicants for Bounty land must enter upon and occupy the land so taken for the period of five years.

THE L. C. & S. C. R. R.—The Lewisburg Chronicle of the 30th ult., says: We are happy to announce that at the recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the L. C. & S. C. R. R. Co., held at the Penn'a. R. R. office, in Philadelphia, the President was authorized, as soon as the location is completed, to advertize for the letting of the heavy work in the mountains between Union and Centre counties, so that the work may be prosecuted with energy this winter. It is expected that in the spring a large portion of the balance of the work will be put under contract. We can say to improvement men at last, that this much desired enterprise is now about being pushed to a speedy completion in despite of croakers. We therefore send greeting to our worthy fellow citizens in Centre county, who have so nobly and earnestly worked up this most important project to a prospect of certain completion. This news will impart to them a happy New Year indeed.

MILROY WOOLEN FACTORY.—The Milroy Woolen Factory, owned by James Thompson & Son's, ocated at Milroy, Mifflin county Pa., is well known throughout the State as having the facilties for manufacturing the very best of woolen goods. It has three setts of cards, 920 spindles, 11 narrow and two broad looms and employs 30 hands whose aggregate wages amount to $600,00 per month and use 46,000 pounds of wool, 7,500 pounds of soap, 800 galons of oil and 70 tons of coal per year. Messrs. Thompson & Sons manufacture 33,000 yards of goods such as cassinets, blankets, carpets &c., and ten thousand pounds of yarns per annum. The value of goods manufactured, amount to $40,000,00 per year. The cost of the machinery was $25,000,00. The buildings, water power and outside fixtures cost ten thousand dollars. The same parties have been running the factory for a number of years and have well earned the high reputation as superior manufacturers that has been bestowed on them by an appreciated public.

COLORED HOP.—Our colored citizens wishing to celebrate the festivities of the holidays, projected a social hop to come off, one night last week at McClain's Hall. Through some misunderstanding the Hall was engaged for other purposes on that evening. They not wishing to be disappointed in their expectations, called on Mr. Ronion, who kindly give them the use of his hall, for that evening, free of charge where

They shuffled the heel and toe,
Till morning's warning bade them go,

A more orderly and better conducted hop never took place in Bellefonte than this one.

THE county seat of Jefferson county is called Punxsatawney. The reason we never have any items concerning that section is our inability to spell that jaw-splitting name without referring to the "Legislative Hand-book."—State Journal.

Any person not being better acquainted with the geography of his own State, than the writer of the above, should never attempt to give correct knowledge to the public, by publishing a newspaper or otherwise. Most any small school boy can tell you that Brookville is the county seat of Jefferson county.

THAT PUMP.—Some few weeks ago we noticed a new pump that our young friends, Messrs. Jarvis & Baily are agents, for this and Clearfield counties. It has the power to raise water from the bottom of a hundred and fifty foot well. To test it thoroughly they put it into the well on Mr. Milikins farm, near this place, which is 146 feet in depth and it worked to a charm. Of course Mr. Miliken purchased the pump as soon as he seen it working.

MORE FAT.—John Mattern, of Patton twp., this county, recently slaughtered two hogs, 8 months and 15 days old, a cross between the Chester White and Utica, which weighed when dressed respectfuly 300 and 259 pounds each. This stock of hogs is claimed as an improvement on the Chester White. Mr. Mattern is an intelligent thriving farmer and always pays promptly for the Republican.

CHRISTMAS FESTIVALS.—On Saturday evening the 24th ult., the children attached to the Reform Sunday School and their friends, assembled in the Reform Church on Linn st., to celebrate the Christians Holiday. A splendid Christmas tree had been erected in the church, which hung full of presents put there by warm hearted friends. Rev. Mr. Wolf addressed those present in a neat and appropriate speech, after which the presents on the tree were distributed by calling out the names of those for whom they were labelled. The presents on the tree having been properly disposed of, the society then distributed their annual Christmas presents to both children and adults and both old and young seemed to enjoy the occasion greatly. This Sunday school numbers some sixty members, and we are informed that it is in a very prospering condition.

On Saturday afternoon of the 24th ult., at half past one o'clock P. M., some two hundred bright and smiling youthful countenances assembled in the audiance chamber or the M. E. Church of this place to celebrate the birth of the Saviour of mankind. The festivities opened by singing in full chorus "On a Christmas morning" and the reading of Scripture and prayer by Rev. J. Mullen. After singing several pieces selected for the occasion and the delivery of short and appropriate addresses, the children, by classes, repaired to the Lecture room where awaited them elegant and plentiful refreshments which had been prepared by the ladies of the Church. Both old and young looked bright and merry and freely participated in the good things of the day. A Christmas tree had been prepared and from its boughs dangled many presents for the little ones which were soon disposed of. It was a very pleasant affair, and happier faces and merrier hearts never before left that church.

On Friday evening the 30th ult., the children and friends of the Presbyterian Sunday School assembled in the Bethel of this place where refreshments had been provided for the occasion. A plentiful supply of good things graced the tables and all appeared to enjoy a season of refreshing sociability. Short and appropriate addresses were made by Gen. Beaver, the Superintendent of the school, and others. A book was presented to the General by the members of the school, and a new hat to the Rev. Mr. Hughes. Two little Misses Horkheimer presented the Rev. Mr. Wiley a beautiful Christmas cake. After a friendly and social intercourse, the guests were dismissed with a benediction and returned home happier and better for the enjoyment of the occasion.

There may have been other festivals during the week, but we have not heard of them.

A SAD ACCIDENT.—On Thursday morning last about five o'clock the citizens of Jacksonville, this county, were aroused from their slumbers by a loud report and the cry of fire. It was soon ascertained that the cause of the alarm was the explosion of the water boiler of the kitchen of the Orphan school of that place. A little girl who happened to be there at the time was badly scalded, setting her clothing on fire and scattering the fire all over the room setting the building ablaze, also badly scalding another young girl, a niece of Mr. Kline's. The child is in a very critical condition Mrs. Kline quickly wrapped the little sufferer in a blanket, thereby smothering the fire on her clothing, and then with great presence of mind turned the water into the range and throwing it on the fire, thus saving the house.

Medical assistance was promptly rendered by Dr. L. M. Holloway but proved of no avail for the little Orphan, Clara DeHaas, was so much prostrated that she expired on the following Friday evening while in a comatose condition. The Dr., has good hopes of the other girls recovery.

VIRTUES OF TOBACCO.—Tobacco is constituted and composed of the richest, strongest and most delicious, and also the most delightful ingredients. The spirit, the oil and opium, the sugar of saccharine matter, the mucilaginous wax and gums, the acids and nitre, with several of the other volatile salts, &c., all so harmoniously combined, constitute this, the richest and the most delicious compound ever engendered and generated in any one plant. No wonder then that all classes of every country and clime, from the savage to the civilized part of mankind, should take delight in its use. It forms the traveler's companion and the philosopher's aid. It is the old bachelor's antidote, the epicure's last resort, and the sailor's and soldier's third daily ration. It keeps open the sentinel's eyes, and besides medical and many other good effects, it cheers the watchman in the silence of the night. Wonderful weed this, of American origin.

A friend, a most worthy citizen, sent us the above for publication. He sends it as a curiosity, having found it in a paper published in 1832.—Juniata Sentinel.

A GREAT fire occurred in Mifflin, Pa., on last Saturday night, destroying 70 houses. Loss estimated at $200,000. The Democrat and Register offices were consumed.

For the REPUBLICAN.

DOING GOOD.—I am philanthropic and christian in my character. Superadded to these traits is an intensely progressive spirit based upon the conviction, that nothing is done right now-a-days. This is a cause of grief to me and others. We cannot keep quiet. A sense of our responsibility enforces the immediate duty of coming to the rescue. The morals of Centre county people need prompt attention. Unless instant supervision be excercised by us over all matters pretaining to the training of the rising generation, these dear children will grow into hobgoblins and heathens just like their parents. Parents don't know how to raise their children. Sunday school teachers are ignorant and stuped. There is scarcely a Sunday School Superintendent in the county that can draw a keg of larger beer on a black board and put the bung in the right place, much less appreciate or explain the beatiful thoughts that glisten and glitter on the sparkling liqud as it comes forth in the beautiful spirit of liberty. The old plan of doing good in a quiet way is "played out." Good is now achieved in proportion to the amount of inconvenience, people are put to, and beneficient results are measured by the amount of disgust we can excite in the mind of every good and common sense man. A new era has commenced, we expect to revolutionise, christianise and refine the masses in this county, by the publication of a moral regenerator, called in usual parlance, a printed sheet. As soon as this little home job is done [it won't take long for we are in terrible earnest] we intend stepping over to China, Japan, Hindostand, and into that district, North of Cape Colong, in the South part of Africa, and then, back of the Republic of Monrovia among the barracoons and jungles; here things need our attention, everything is done wrong. On our return we will gather up a few of the islands of the sea, those beautiful islands, quite surrounded by water and bathed in much sunshine, containing birds of rare and beautiful plumage, syllabing forth their pure notes in accents most sweet, and where man alone is vile; here, a copy or two of the regenerator will be left and in a short time the natives will sing just as pretty as the birds. Then fastening a few copies of the "thoughts that burn to the claw of a carrier pigeon (carrier pigeon or dove! historic association! see Noahs ark, anchored on Ararat,) cleaving the air annihilating space, the light will penetrate the South sea islands, where we are afraid to go in person on account of the canibals returning by the Southern part of this hemisphere, singing as we go and dispelling the darkness of superstition by a smile, we will fetch up in Bellefonte, the new Jerusalem, and continue in the future as in the past to stir up the people to the highest peg of Christian activity or Christian forbarance, as the case may be.

OBSERVER.

SCHOOL PUNISHMENTS.—Cruel, inhuman, and corporal punishment of pupils in the Public schools, which properly belonged to the savage state of man, is fast coming into disrepute by all friends of humanity, and well wishers of the human race.

The council of the city of Washington, being brim-full of the "milk of human kindness," recently passed an ordinance which expresses the earnest convictions of a large majority of the people on this subject. It declares that henceforth it shall not be lawful for any teacher, or superintendent, or trustee, or other person in or connected with any of the public schools of Washington, by reason of such relation, to inflict punishment upon the person of any pupil belonging to any of said schools, whether by the application of blows, or by a constrained position of the person, or by protracted standing, or by coerced exposure of any pupil to heat, or to cold, or to darkness, or to solitude, or by denying the privilege of water, or the gratification of any reasonable natural desire, or by detention in the schoolhouse after the dismissal or intermission of the school, or by the requirement of excessive study, or in any other manner; and no person acting in disregard of this ordinance shall be held before the law in any manner, or to any degree excussable because of his or her responsibility for the order or discipline of any public schools, as aforesaid.

The Evening Star of that city says, this measure reaches a class of punishments we consider almost more objectionable than direct flogging—such as detaining children in a way to deprive them of their regular meals or of the opportunity to get the air and exercise necessary to their physical development, which we consider quite as important a branch of their education as their mental training. We hear of a good many abuses of this sort practiced in our public schools by young and inexperienced teachers, who do not seem to appreciate the necessity that their pupils shall have sound bodies to enable them to make successful use in life of what they learn at school.

WATCH MEETING.—On New Years eve., the members of the M. E. Church of this place, in accordance with a custom as old as the church itself assembled in their house of worship and held interesting religious services until half past 12 o'clock at night. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Mullen the Pastor in charge.

CARRIER'S ADDRESS.

Kind friends and patrons on this glad New Year,
We wish you happiness, and mirth, and cheer;
Although outside the wintry tempest roars,
May peace and safety sit within your doors.

May hope inspire your hearts—may love impart
Its warmth and light to each and every heart;
May all your lives with happiness be blest,
And Peace the angel hover o'er your rest.

And yet let sorrow touch your gentle hearts,
Life springs from death, and death to life imparts;
The seeds of dissolution and decay—
The New Year's born—the old has passed away.

Last night amid the tempest—the Old Year,
Contending with its fury—like King Lear;
Wandered, an outcast, on the frozen plains,
With none to pity or relieve his pains.

He died—sometime the watchful stars o'er head,
Beheld him dying and beheld him dead;
They saw the vengeful and vindictive storm,
Lashing its fury on his helpless form.

This morn he lies beneath his shroud of snow,
Dead as the frozen earth that lies below;
And we, forgetful and ungrateful sing,
Only our praises to the New Year King.

Thus was it ever—for the human heart,
Contains of Hell and Heaven, an equal part;
The better feelings of our hearts connect—
With base ingratitude and cold neglect.

And yet to-day I would not scold too much,
For we are only human, and as such,
Must touch upon these frailties we tell—
'Tis God alone that doeth all things well.

And in His hand, these little lives of ours,
But act responsive to His greater powers;
And He who made and formed them, well doth know
The reason of the rule by which they go.

Men judge each other by the harshest rules,
Because they all are criminals and fools:
But God is wise and perfect, and He knows
That men need mercy for their sins and woes.

This is the lesson that my song should teach:
Good will to all and loving words from each;
Only a week ago the Christmas morn
Proclaimed the day that loving Christ was born.

Free handed Charity and love for all,
Will make the hovel happy as the hall:
Will make the heart light-hearted, free and gay,
And change December into flowery May.

Life's car is on the railroad track of time,
And rushing forward at a rate sublime;
Another station on the road is passed,
And we are nearing rapidly the last.

Write up your records with a rapid hand,
Our lives are fickle as the shifting sand;
There's no device nor knowledge in the grave,
No God to pity and no Christ to save.

A few brief rolling suns and this New Year,
Hoary with age and time, will disappear;
And some of us before its course is run,
Will sleep with those whose work with life is done—

Will sleep beneath the bosom of the sod;
Sealed and delivered in the grave for God,
Dreaming so deep a dream that years will flee,
And Time will melt into Eternity.

And when we wake from that refreshing dream,
If Heaven's golden glories on us gleam;
The happy New Year that we then behold,
Will never vanish and will ne'er grow old.

On this glad day we sing the songs of peace,
Glad that at last from strife we have release;
For four long years red-handed furious War,
Drove o'er the land his desolating car.

In Europe—cursed by Emperors and Kings—
Where souls are chattels—human beings things;
War with its trail of blood—its fiery brand,
Still devastates the tyrant-stricken land.

Still does the smoke from burning homes ascend,
And dying cries and widow's moanings blend;
And there are trappings for a nations bier,
For France lies dying with the dying year.

Sweet sunny France—the land of chivalry—
Whose son's are brave, whose daughter's fair to see;
Lies prostrate 'neath the oppressors' iron rod,
The victim of incompetence and fraud.

And banded Princes join to strike the blow,
Showing no mercy to a fallen foe;
Staining the laurels that their valor won,
By deeds of cruelty and insult done.

Bring in, New Year; bring in a better time—
Drive out oppressions, tyranny and crime;
Drive out hate, bigotry and error blind,
Bring in sweet Charity for all mankind!

Our own fair land from war's alarms is free,
Peace is the guardian of her industry;
Sweet Liberty the Throneless Empress reigns,
And plenty smiles o'er all our boundless plains.

With this, our hearts to gladden and to cheer,
We greet with happiness the new born year;
And in contentment and in patience wait—
Hope for the future, makes the present great.

JAMES C. CURTIN, Carrier.

From the Oquawka Spectator.

DIED, in Monmouth, Warren Co, Ill., November 30th 1870, of congestion of the lungs, Samuel Harvey, Esq. Mr. Harvey was born Oct. 28th, 1806, in Millhall, Clinton Co., Pa. He removed to Shokokon, Henderson Co., Ill., in the year 1847, where he resided until lately he went to Monmouth, where he died, and was brought back to his old homestead to be buried. There was a large funeral, and numerous warm hearted friends joined their sympathies with his sadly bereaved friends. He was perfectly reasoned and died as he had lived, a Christian. N. B. V.

SPLASH DAM.—The best splash dam ever built in this county was built recently, on Marsh creek, on the lands of the Marsh Creek Improvement Co., by Sam'l Brickley & Jno. P. DeHass. This dam was built by six men in six weeks under the supervision of Samuel Brickley. Mr. Brickley, is a practical man and persons wishing dams built should call and see him.

BIG HOGS.—John P. DeHass, butchered at his farm in Curtin twp., seven hogs which weighed one ton, the two heaviest of the seven, weighed respectfully 470, and 380. Who can beat this? Mr. DeHass, is one of Curtin twps., best citizens—a first class farmer and a clear-headed Republican.

TWO PANTHERS CAPTURED.—On last Friday week, Mr. George Hastings, in company with James David, an old hunter of Clinton county, while hunting for deer on the east branch of Big Run, which empties into Beech creek, Clinton county, got on the track of two panthers and succeeded in treeing one which they shot and took it to their cabin. It measured nearly nine feet in length. The next day they resumed the hunt for the other one, and succeeded in routing it out of his lair, and after a lively hunt of five hours duration succeeded in making it seek a point of rocks for protection from the dogs.

The two hunters came up and a ball from each of their guns, fired similtaneously, made the savage beast bite the earth. It also measured 8 feet 10 inches in length. There was a time when it was no uncommon thing to kill these wild beasts in that part of the county, but these, we believe are the only ones that have been killed there for several years.

DAMAGES SUSTAINED.—Mr. John Wyne, of this place who was seriously injured by a railroad collision on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad near Parkersburg, Va., last fall, was so seriously injured that he will, in all probability, be crippled for life. This is a great injury to Mr. Wyne as he is a hard working man and has a large family depending on him for their support. We presume the B. & O. Railroad company, upon becoming acquainted with the facts will provide liberally for him.

The $12 Lever Watch, No 13,580, purchased from Chas. P. Norton & Co. 86 Nassau-street New-York, January 5th, has been carried by me over six months, with a total variation in time of only 26 seconds, without the slightest regulating, and presents the same brilliancy of color as when purchased.

I have for the past eight months, constantly used one of the $15 Norton, Oride Gold Lever Watches, manufactured by Chas. P. Norton & Co. 86 Nassau-Street, New-York, and found the total variation in its time but one half minute, (30 seconds, and it retains the same appearance of gold as when purchased. Several of our men use them with the same results. I cheerfully recommend them for correctness and wear.
